Report on State Higher Education Council Consultative Meeting 15th -16th February, 2018

1. Introduction

Higher education in India has been expanding at a rapid pace in the recent decades. While the sector mostly relied on public institutions or publicly funded institutions for its expansion in the past, the expansion in the present period is taking place increasingly through the private higher education institutions. Consequently, there are multiplicity of providers offering courses and study programmes especially in the domains of technical and professional education.

The expansion of the sector coupled with the emergence of multiple providers necessitate reforms in the way higher education is governed in the country. One of the important developments in the reform process has been strengthening of the state initiatives through the establishment of State Higher Education Councils (SHEC). Following the recommendations of the National Policy on Education, the University Grants Commission (UGC) issued guidelines to set up SHECs in 1988. According to the UGC guidelines, SHECs are entrusted with planning and coordination, academic, advisory and administrative functions. The Twelfth Five year plan, National Mission on Higher education 2013 has placed greater premium on the need for state level planning for higher education, wherein state councils for higher education are expected to play a key role. The centrally sponsored programme of RUSA relies on SHECs for the planning and implementation in each of the states.

Although, all the SHECs were established under the same regulations and norms, they vary in terms of functions undertaken. Given these concerns, a consultative meeting was organized by Center for Policy Research in Higher Education (CPRHE), NIEPA on 15 and 16 February 2018 in NIEPA, New Delhi. The major purpose of the consultative meeting was to engage with the States on issues concerning the role of state higher education councils in state level planning for higher education and to bring different state councils to share their experiences and work out a future agenda.

The first consultative meeting was organized by Center for Policy Research in Higher Education (CPRHE), NIEPA on 25 and 26 March 2014 in NIEPA, New Delhi. The major purpose of the consultative meeting was to engage with the States on issues concerning the role of state higher education councils in state level planning for higher education. The participants of the first consultative meeting were representatives from the SHECs of Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Karnataka, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Maharashtra and Gujarat. A total of 13 SHEC representatives participated in the meeting.

The participants of the second consultative meeting were representatives from the SHECs of nine states including Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, Chandigarh UT and Meghalaya. A total of 16 SHEC representatives participated in the meeting. List of participants is given in Annexure III.

Resource persons were drawn from the MHRD, Planning Commission and NIEPA. Dr. Pankaj Mittal, Additional Secretary, UGC, Ishita Roy, Joint Secretary, MHRD and Dr. Shakila Shamsu, OSD, MHRD were special invitees to interact with the representatives.

2. Inaugural Session

Dr. Garima Malik, Assistant Professor, CPRHE gave a brief background of NIEPA and talked in detail about CPRHE with respect to its inception and the research activities it is engaged with. She discussed how CPRHE is established in NIEPA as a specialised Centre in the area of higher education policy and planning. The Centre is funded by the University Grants Commission (UGC). The Centre enjoys autonomy to develop and implement its own research agenda and other programmes; and mobilise resources.

It was then brought to fore that in the face of massification of higher education with the GER being 25.2 percent and a larger proportion of the enrolment being in state universities, state level activities have become very important. Thereby the functioning of SHECs needs to be strengthened with focus on various dimensions, like, planning, monitoring and evaluation. The presentation pointed out the biggest challenge being non functional SHECs and inadequate online information available for the same across many states.

Professor N.V. Varghese, Vice Chancellor of NIEPA inaugurated the consultative meeting. He pointed out in his inaugural address that the strengthening of SHECs needed to be emphasised, given the massification in higher education. In this context, an area of concern which was flagged was how to manage the market in the face of massification. SHECs should be delegated the responsibility of accreditation and quality. The role of SHECs with respect to facilitating the process of planning was highlighted. Similarly, SHECs role post the expansion of digital interface requires attention with respect to specification. The dimension of increased diversity in higher education with respect to increased participation of the disadvantaged groups has implications in the realm of classroom interactions, changing nature of the campus's social structure, given this, the role of SHECs deems to be made effective. The aspects of governance and management with increased number of autonomous colleges reiterates the envisaging of roles of SHECs. Another dimension discussed was the fall in public funding of higher education and in this aspect what role can the SHECs play.

The Consultative meeting had sessions on Reforms and the process of policy making in Higher education and on several new initiatives in higher education like Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching (PMMMNMTT), Digital learning and RUSA. These sessions evoked a lot of interest and rich deliberations followed.

3. Reforms and the process of policy making in Higher Education

Dr. Shakila Shamsu reiterated that a large proportion of higher education institutions are in the states. Thus, state should not abdicate from its responsibility of quality in higher education. The major points which emerged in the CABE meeting of the state education ministers was highlighted as being: 1) Increase GER 2) Opening new universities 3) Infrastructure should be used optimally 4) thrust on autonomy to be given to quality institutes 5) emphasis on open and distance learning. 6) Actions to plug regional disparities in higher education was stated 7) Ensuring accountability of all stakeholders (teachers, academic leaders and bureaucrats).

With respect to SHECs it was suggested that a rolling plan for five years, vision plan for 15 years and action plan for every year should be constituted. Need for having a legacy and continuity plan was felt so that the functioning of SHECs does not suffer on account of new recruitments. Curricular reforms were sought to be taken up by the SHECs. It was suggested to go for a district wise mapping of students with respect to their participation in higher education which would facilitate in making better interventions. This would also contribute in achieving the five pillars of education stated as, equity, access, quality and accountability. It was brought to notice that B.Ed. degree would be made into a four year professional degree. With regard to NIRF it was mentioned that parameters should be more realistic and in convergence with the Indian context. Mandatory induction of newly appointed teachers under National Mission on teachers and teaching (NMTT) was brought to light. Curriculum reforms with focus on critical thinking, adaptability skills, development of competencies, focus on interdisciplinarity, freedom of students to choose from a spectrum of courses was highlighted. Provision should be made for foreign faculty to come and conduct classes. The issue of employability of graduate students received a mention with focus on how students can develop soft skills and adaptability skills. An action plan for improving employability was suggested. Like Higher Education Funding Agency (HEFA) there should be a similar body at the state level.

4. New Initiatives in Higher Education

4.1 Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching (PMMMNTT)

Professor Sudhanshu Bhushan threw light on the scheme which was started in 2014 and which has a central idea of creating a professional cadre of teachers by creating performance standards, institutional facilities for innovative teaching and professional development of teachers. To bring things in perspective he emphasised that a federation can be strong only by strengthening the states. Given the current situation, with proliferation of universities at the state level there is a challenge in controlling standards as most of the powers are vested with the centre in case of higher education. In this respect SHECs needs strengthening with focus on maintaining standards. The worrisome plight of teachers was brought to fore as in many cases they become victims of bureaucratisation and politicisation. By way of policies more responsibilities are being transferred to teachers. Challenges are paramount as the state funding in higher education has been reduced even in absolute terms. State universities should be promoted for establishing schools of education under the scheme of PMMMNTT. The establishment of Teaching Learning Centres (TLCs) as prescribed in the scheme has been largely concentrated in IITs and IIITs with inadequate state universities being a part. Thereby the need for state universities coming forward in this regard was highlighted. National Resource Centres (NRCs) convergence with SHECs for regular interaction was also sought.

4.2 Digital learning

Dr Pankaj Mittal, the Additional secretary of UGC made a detailed presentation on UGC Initiatives on Digital Learning. In her presentation she discussed about the importance of various online courses in the new era of digitalization. For example, she threw some light on various MOOCs courses under SYAWAM platform and informed that now 20 per cent of the credits could be earned through this. Further, she drew attention to the types of courses running under E-PG Pathshala, which is a hugely successful initiative with 18,000 modules available online and having 33.63 Lakhs visitors all over the world. While Dr. Mittal argued that MOOCs have huge potential to address the issues related to equity and access and can actually solve the problems related to quality of higher education, some argued that courses learnt through MOOCs will not provide the learners with enough opportunities to discuss and engage in deeper dialogues with the mentor/s, which is only possible in a class room system. Thus, the entire endeavor will come down to rote learning and in such case it is not expected that India will be able to produce quality institutions and quality students. Further, it was pointed out that these kinds of initiative can create digital divide. Nonetheless, many from the representative states ascertained that MOOCs have the potential to increase the access to higher education. There were also several suggestions made by them to Dr. Mittal, as follows:

1. SHECs should also be given some responsibilities in MOOCs initiative.
2. UGC should also provide some working guidelines to the universities in implementing MOOCs.
3. ODL programmes are not accredited in Open Universities. UGC should do something to resolve the same.
4. How is UGC going to facilitate the teachers who are not proficient in using computer and internet?
5. UGC should hold meetings with SHECs at least twice a year.
6. UGC should make more stringent rules for the private universities to regulate their establishment, curriculum and fee structure.
7. Over the years with neoliberal policies UGCs role is gradually getting diluted. UGC has to do something very actively to retain its power in regulating higher education institution and maintaining academic freedom, quality and autonomy.

4.3 RUSA

Ms. Ishita Roy, Joint Secretary (Higher Education), MHRD, initiated a discussion on RUSA and the role of SHECs. She pointed out that State level planning for higher education through SHECs has got significant attention in policy discourses in India and has got more clear and concrete focus under National Mission on Higher Education (RUSA). Under the RUSA framework, SHECs are expected to lead the formulation of State higher education plans and also monitoring of the implementation of the higher education plans.

She pointed out in her presentation about nine different regulations. She also mentioned about the new assessment criteria for recruitment and promotion in lieu of API scores. She talked about three pillars of RUSA which includes Research, Accreditation, and Accountability. RUSA funding for research depend upon the ideas of applied research. Funding is provided only when the idea of the project is innovative and out of the box. For example, funding was provided to the government of Maharashtra for the project on micro atms which focuses on application of nano technology. She also talked about the success of Chandigarh in NAAC accreditation because they helped their colleges and university in understanding the process of accreditation using repeated workshops. In case of accountability Orissa is the best example because they held a meeting with the vice-chancellor of all the institutions once in a quarter.

She also talked about curriculum reforms, faculty reforms, and reforms tracker. Reform tracker is a mobile app which helps to know the rank of the state on various reforms. She also mentioned that focus should be on adopting UGC regulations; undertake governance reforms and filling up of vacant faculty positions; focus on Research & Innovation both under UGC & RUSA.

The discussions centred around how funding is done if government needs to setup new colleges or upgrade an older one. Funding is divided into 35% on new construction, 35% for repairs, and 30% for equipment. Further questions were raised that how we can manage the combination of educationalist and policy planner. She directed towards the use of RUSA preparatory grant money and conduct workshops for the educationalist on how to become a better policy planner

The RUSA covers only government institutions/colleges for funding purposes. However, all institutions (public and private) are covered for all other aspects of the RUSA. The funding pattern and fund flow mechanism need to be streamlined and the role of SHECs need to be clearly defined.

There are questions about improving the higher education sector when funding does not cover the majority of institutions which are in the aided sector. Allocation of funds for activities under different components of RUSA such as funds for developing State Level Information system could be included in research and innovation component.

Accreditation of institutions is mandatory. Regional and State level accrediting bodies are being approached for developing regulatory mechanisms.

There has been lack of dialogue between center and state regarding development of higher education. The RUSA provides a unique opportunity for continued dialogue between the center and states. Further, the SHECs are practically new creations and they will facilitate this dialogue. The RUSA makes it mandatory for the states to constitute SHECs to receive funds under the scheme.

Regulation is one of the important aspects of governing and managing higher education. The institutions of higher education should become autonomous. All autonomous institutions should have Board of Governors. The SHECs should also have Board of Governors. The state governments should not treat funds from RUSA scheme as a matter of right of the state institution/state. It should be seen more as an opportunity to fill the funding gap, promote quality of higher education and an agenda for reform.

4.4 Higher Education Financing

The funding of state level higher education institutions is channeled through UGC and the funds are too little for the state level institutions. At times the fund flow from the UGC is not always necessarily synergized with the state government funding. Further, funding involves so many visits and assessments.

Trends show that the growth of the Universities and Colleges at the state level, very often, are influenced more by political compulsions than the requirements at the local levels. The SHECs will be able to deal with these issues more reliably and strategically. The SHECs have to play an important role in preparing the state higher education plan in accordance with the state level requirements. It is important to integrate skill formation with the development of education at the state level. The employability of university graduates is an important issue. At present market friendly skill formation is taking place more in the private institutions than in the public institutions.

5. SHECs and their activities – presentations by Participants

The consultative meeting provided an opportunity to discuss issues related to the establishment and functioning of SHECs. Fundamental to the state level planning for higher education is the idea of empowerment of State councils not only in terms of planning but also in terms of regulation of higher education. In the realm of diversified expansion of higher education, accreditation of institutions and study programmes are key areas requiring immediate attention to maintain quality and standards in higher education. The consultative meeting proved to be an important avenue for the state councils of higher education to clarify the crucial issue pertaining to the implementation of the RUSA.

The CPRHE had requested all the representatives of the SHECs to come prepared for a presentation on their respective SHECs. Representatives of State Councils of Higher Education made presentations about their respective Councils. From the presentation made and reports submitted by SHECs, it appeared that the councils were carrying out their activities under three broad categories: Advisory, Recommendatory and Operational.

Advisory role of SHECs

The academic and advisory function of APSHEC was discussed including academic profile of APSHEC, students and teachers' data, quality initiatives, best practices, tracking the progress, initiatives, new initiatives, and future directions. The best practices of APSHEC includes screening test for recruitment of assistant professor, curriculum for conventional and technical courses, working with ISRO and universities to bring about social development and progress, online common entrance tests and online admission, and mandated key performance indicators.

Telangana State Higher Education Council has prepared a document as guiding framework for the future of higher education in the state. Working committees have been constituted in the area of innovation. Telangana Quality Higher Education Program (TQHEP) has also been introduced. In collaboration with all the universities in the state, Telangana State Higher Education Council has initiated designing a common course curriculum for the college level education. Online admission in undergraduate level is already in place and recently Telangana State Higher Education Council has introduced the biometric attendance system for student which has massively improved the attendance related issues of the students. The Telangana State Higher Education Council has also been able to run successfully the CBCS programs in the colleges along with having gender sensitive campuses in their higher education system.

Apart from all these duties Kerala State Higher Education Council also has initiated a merit cum means scholarship scheme for UG and PG students along with higher education scholarship scheme for inviting eminent professors from abroad, erudite scheme, cluster college scheme and smart campus scheme etc. Further, Kerala State Higher Education Council has also started their own journal titled "Higher Education for the Future" published by Sage: India.

West Bengal State Higher Education Council also has some say on private higher education institutions regarding their fee regulation, subject and pedagogy introduction and updation.

Recommendatory role of SHECs

SCHEs also undertake research studies to suggest policy recommendation to the Ministry of Higher Education. WBSHEC plays a critical role regarding resolving any dispute in higher education institutions within the state. Further, every university and college has to go through a very rigorous process of inspection and confirmation from the state council to establish a new course or upgrading an older one.

Operational role

Under the operational role, the major activities of State council for higher education consist of Sanction of Seats, Conduct of Common Entrance Test, Providing support to universities and colleges on the matters related to quality and providing training to faculties. There are many states Punjab, Haryana, Himachal, Rajasthan, and Bihar where the state university act provides for recommendation being made by the chief minister in appointment of vice chancellor. In UP this is not the case. This is one major aspect that makes the state higher education system of Uttar Pradesh quite autonomous and independent from the influence of state government.

As new initiatives Meghalaya State Higher Education Council has started sensitizing all colleges about NIRF and importance of NAAC visits. The plan of the council is to initiate MOOCs programs and implementation of State Higher Education Plan 2.0 under RUSA to further improve the positive influence of RUSA funding.

Rajasthan State Higher Education Council has been engaged in preparing the higher education institutions for NAAC visits. Apart from distributing funds to several colleges and universities, RSHEC also has come up with Vamasa Yojana to provide funds to the schools and colleges for construction and up gradation of infrastructure, along with government funded BSNL internet connection for all government colleges. The council has initiated Hello English Act, Gender Atlas in Udaipur and HR Conclave for the job aspirants.

In the concluding session of the two day consultative meet, presentations were made by faculty members of CPRHE and Department of Higher and Professional Education (NIEPA) pertaining to the various research projects they have undertaken in the area of higher education.

6. Issues emerging from the discussions

The two day State Higher Education Council (SHEC) consultative meet organized by CPRHE/NIEPA provided an opportunity to each participating SHEC to discuss the issues related to the structure and functions and their future plans. It is well known in the policy circle that SHECs play very critical roles in preparing state higher education plans and regulating higher education sector at the state level. The idea of this consultative meeting was to empower SHECs through discussion, collaborative learning and adopting some best practices at the end of the meet.

The various state representatives were in support of having continuous engagement of the SHECs and there was a demand for extending technical, institutional support along with proper guidelines to facilitate their functioning. There was an urge for provisions of a uniform structure of the SHECs. Although in the discussions it emerged that the idea was not to have uniformity as there will inevitably be variations across states.

With the fast growing private sector, the need to have a robust regulatory framework at the national level was emphasized. It was felt that while SHECs have advisory role they need to have more regulatory powers.

Universities should have autonomy in deciding their curriculum. However to maintain standards and to reduce variations across regions and institutions each institution may learn from curriculum content of good universities as benchmark to improve quality.

Online courses and distance education offered under Digital India program should be emphasized.

There is a need to strengthen public institutions (government and aided) and improve their governance. The centralisation and bureaucratisation of higher education should be resisted. There should be a focus on outcome and output based measures instead of being input based.

It is observed that practitioners find it easier to concentrate on spending monetary resources for ease of showing expenditure data empirically as improvement or progress in their chosen area instead of concentrating on wider but more substantial issues requiring fundamental changes in curricular framework and modifying, redesigning existing courses and thinking of more relevant areas of study in line with the thinking and progress in various discipline which makes them more attractive to the students despite the rising costs.

SHECs are rarely consulted for formulating policy at State level and are not consulted when national level higher education reforms take place. Therefore SHECs should be given a place of importance and prominence in these discussions.

The issue of teacher shortages especially in semi urban and rural areas was discussed. It was felt that teacher vacancies needed to be filled in. It was also suggested that there should be teacher orientation programs. There are recent programs like PMMMMNMTT which focus on understanding and improving teacher and teaching learning process. Such efforts need to be strengthened and SHECs should play a role.

There is urgent need to built up a system to bring together the academia and industry for job creation and various opportunities have to be created for the students pursuing humanities and social science courses in terms of expanding the quality higher education institutions and mitigating language related issues.

Good quality teaching should be encouraged and teachers professional development should be looked into as a priority.

The functioning of SHECs should be strengthened with adequate provision of funding. States need to empower the existing SHECs with authority for significant funding allocation. Right now Centre and State funding flow directly to higher education institutions without being channelled through SHECs. This needs to change and funding through SHECs must be made part of the State Higher Education plan.

Consultation with SHECs was emphasised upon and dialogue between UGC and SHEC was flagged as important. It was also suggested that UGC should initially handhold SHECs.

It was recommended that SHECs should meet annually and NIEPA should take the lead in organizing such meetings.

Higher education sector in India is under transition and requires a closer examination from the governance perspective. Growth in enrolment, proliferation of private providers and new courses has created more complexities. In the changing context the need for state level planning for higher education is felt more than ever before. State councils for Higher education being central to the state level planning for higher education need to act pro-actively. How far these councils are in a position to carry out the role of planning and coordination of higher education in the respective states is an issue worth examining. It is important to recognize that some SHECs have made strong attempts towards execution of state level plans through key activities like monitoring and evaluation.

However, the above recommendations have been in the environment for some time and over the years stakeholders in academics have been voicing their concerns as some parts reported in this report. Probably culmination of this voicing of concerns has resulted in the Governments recent positive response in the “graded autonomy boost “ policy pronouncement .This policy, firstly, allows selected Universities and colleges the freedom to start new courses, off-campus centres, skill development courses, research parks and other new academic programmes. Secondly, ability to hire foreign faculty, enroll foreign students. Thirdly, provide incentive based emoluments to faculty. Fourthly, enter into academic collaboration and lastly run distance learning programmes.

6. New Initiatives and Challenges for the future.

Apart from the ongoing programmes like Cluster of Colleges, Higher Education Scholarship Scheme, Erudite Scheme, Workshops for teachers and Higher Education Journal the following new initiatives are taken up. They include

a) Prabudhatha (Community Higher Education)

The programme aims to create awareness among the public about how higher knowledge affects and influences their standard of living as well as various aspects of human existence. The scheme postulates that, in a democratic society, everyone has the right be abreast of the advantages and repercussions of the new discoveries and inventions. The scheme also intends to develop and circulate a multimedia package, capable of explicating for the benefit of the common people the possibilities and implications of research and studies in the field of higher education which include Structural and Functional Genomics, Agro-biotechnology, Synthetic Bio-engineering, Bioinformatics, Bio Pharmacology, Nano-tech sensors, Nano-transmitters, Brain-Computer interface Devices, Artificial Intelligence, Robotics, etc.

KSHEC will take up the responsibility of holding campaigning activities in connection with “Prabudhatha” throughout the state in collaboration with higher education institutions. Higher Education Institutions will be directed to observe ‘Open Day’ in order to facilitate common people to interact with researchers and understand research activities as well as to enable them to visit laboratories, workshops and museums. The Council will take the initiative to encourage experts in science and technology to participate in the campaigns for the Prabudhatha scheme.

b) Dhaishanika Paryavaran (Learner Ecosystem Campuses)

Dhaishanika Paryavaran or Learner Ecosystem Campus is a programme with a mission to reconstruct higher education campuses as live organic fields of knowledge acquisition. The scheme purports to transform the present teacher centred higher education institutions into student centred learning environs that encourage creativity and critical aptitude. The Council will take up the responsibility of developing a campus into such a learner ecosystem campus which can be taken as a model and copied by other institutions with necessary changes.

Lerner Ecosystem campuses are expected to give priority to digital teaching, learning ecosystem and cross-disciplinary dialogues. Such campuses would take the lead in seriously debating and discussing issues concerning drinking water, waste, environmental pollution, global warming etc. which are current issues as well as those threats, challenges and conundrums that are evolving. To facilitate such an ambience, the KSHEC will provide directions and encouragement for interdisciplinary activities and formation of teacher-student collectives on campuses. In short, 'Dhaishanika Paryavaran' scheme addresses the question as to how knowledge can be diffused to spaces outside the classrooms in visual, auditory and other possible ways. The new initiatives also include the following.

a) University Level Quality Standardisation and Teacher Training Programs, b) Integration of Brain-Gain concept to ERUDITE scheme, c) Academic Volunteer Bank (AVB), d) Common Academic and Examination Calendar for Universities, e) Restructuring of PG Curriculum in Universities, f) Guidelines for equivalency/ recognition Certificate by State Universities

c) RUSA: - It is an umbrella scheme to be operated in mission mode that would subsume other existing schemes in the higher education sector mainly funded by UGC. RUSA is envisaged as a prime vehicle for strategic funding of state institutions so as to ensure that issues of access, equity and quality addressed in an equitable manner with the state as a composite unit of planning. RUSA ordains the Kerala State Higher Education Council to run the RUSA mission in the State in co-ordination with Higher Education Department and State Project Directorate.

d) Redesigning of Courses for Outcome Based Education (OBE) - KSHEC offers to provide scientific expertise through a three day residential workshop with the title "Redesigning of Courses for Outcome Based Education (OBE)" for the BoS in all our Universities for redesigning the Courses of their UG Programme. Constraints & Challenges facing in Higher Education in Telangana

India experiences a massive expansion of its higher education system in this century. The massification of this sector accompanied by technological changes in the delivery of higher education opportunities provides a great impetus to shape the future of higher education as well as facilitate institutional transformation. It also poses challenges both at national and institutional level. Therefore, it is pertinent to underline the constraints and challenges in Higher Education in Telangana.

1. There is a need to find ways to compete at the international level while newer ones are struggling to develop infrastructure, recruit faculty and initiate new programmes of teaching and research so as to establish their credibility as high quality institutions.
2. The challenges faced by the Universities in Telangana relate to the acute scarcity of resources that act as a major constraint to sustain efforts to improve quality and make use of the technological opportunities available.
3. The present affiliating system, whereby several hundred colleges are affiliated to some of the state Universities which makes it impossible for them to provide academic leadership and support.
4. The introduction of cost recovery measures and self-financing courses take the challenges posed by financial crunch to a totally different level in terms of governing higher education institutions and managing study programmes.
5. All institutions of higher education need to make efforts to raise resources from non-traditional and non-governmental sources and need to maintain an optimal balance between efficiency and sufficiency in resources-efficiency in its utilization without compromising the equity considerations.
6. Leaders of higher education institutions need to understand this complexity because their operational efficiency is constrained by social, economic and political factors. It is important to devise ways and means of mobilizing additional resources without commercializing institutions of higher education and to take the institutions to a high quality trajectory along with addressing equity concerns.
7. The major challenge faced by most higher education institutions is on the quality front. There can be no disputing the fact that competent and committed faculties are the backbone of the system to build and sustain quality.
8. Another challenge to teaching learning process is the student diversity in the classrooms. Students come from diverse social, linguistic and economic backgrounds.

9. An important problem of governance at the institutional level is autonomy. At times, compliance of regulations issued by the government and regulatory councils creates conflicts due to a multiplicity of control under the federal structure.

Strengths and Opportunities in Telangana for Higher Education:

Telangana is the most preferred educational destination in India

- Telangana is fast emerging as an Educational Hub. National institutes like IIT, IIIT and NIT are in Telangana and many more are showing interest to establish the campuses in Telangana due to its vibrant culture, safe working environment and global outlook.
- In Telangana nearly 185 out of thousand students have internet connectivity and it is among the top states in the number of students per thousand pursuing technical courses.

Strengths	Weaknesses
Telangana has got very rich and learned education heritage. Very good primary education which provides a very strong base. Telangana Education system molds the growing minds with huge amount of information and knowledge. Education system in the state gives the greater exposure to the subject knowledge. Cost of education is very low when compared to many other states. Number of higher education institutions is more compared to other states and also concentrated in Hyderabad.	Lack of adequate up-gradation of Curriculum. No benchmark and no common course content and no common exam procedure. Lack of specialized courses or modular and rigid curriculum learning considered as one step process. Education is exam oriented. No fixed parameters. Lack of strong Industry-Institute interaction as there is rigidity in curriculum. Lack of multidisciplinary courses. Role of teacher is confined to teaching alone. Learning is job oriented.

Opportunities	Threats
Telangana has rich resources human as well as physical. Telangana has enough number of higher educational institutions. Therefore, we can produce more and highly qualified students. Telangana can fulfil student's demands by providing enhanced quality of education and producing enough number of technically skilled outputs. Curriculum should be made more realistic, practical based and job oriented.	Lack of interest and interaction from the industry in developing and collaborating in the research field.

Only limited public resources to finance higher education – Instead of restructuring our existing setup (without giving due importance for their service and excellence –will create problem and unrest) based on merit /Ranking the same infrastructure may be expanded with the variation in Teacher Student ratio and allotted fund. For example the best institute will get maximum grant/fund and the infrastructure may be of 1:1 ratio (Teacher/Student: instrument) and lowest performing institute may get the same in 1:100 ratio ... 1: 1000 ratio.

- iii. Internationalisation / Globalisation / WTO, ICT led State Education...

The Centre of Excellence Scheme is being run by the State Government for all the State Universities in U.P. with respect to Enhancement of Qualitative Education and Excellent Research. During the Year 2015-16, 30 Proposals were received regarding consideration of grant scheme for Centre of Excellence, out of which Rs. 220.89 Lakhs allotted to 13 proposals were recommended by the Expert Panel in the Govt. for this purpose alone.

The Seminar and Symposium Schemes too are run by the State Govt. for the State Universities, Govt. Degree Colleges as well as the Aided Degree Collages. The proposals are received by the Director, Higher Education to be considered by an Expert Panel nominated by the Govt. In this scheme 26 proposals were considered reasonable out of 59 proposals received from the State Universities and 22 apt out of 24 proposals from amongst Govt. Degree Colleges. Also 20 proposals were accepted by the Expert Panel out of 28 proposals belonging to the Aided Degree Colleges to organise the Seminars/Workshop.

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell is also established by the Govt. in the State Higher Education Council to monitor the Quality of Education in the Universities and the Colleges. The most important Role played by the State Higher Education is to scrutinize and Coordinate the Accreditation of Higher Educational Institutions through National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC). The NAAC has been setup to facilitate the volunteering institutions to assess their performance according to certain parameters through introspection processes that provide space for the participation of the institution. In the Year 2015-16 amongst State Universities, Govt. Degree Colleges including Aided Degree Colleges, 170 Higher Educational Institutions were accredited out of 483 institutions by the NAAC. In the Year 2016-17 Higher Education Institutions Accreditations by the NAAC were 200 out of 508 and the Council made them out through the maximum of Accreditations through this process. The Higher Educational Institution knows its weaknesses and opportunities which lie ahead. The NAAC has continuously strived in its methodology and changing trends reforming the Revised Accreditation Framework for the Quantitative and Qualitative assessment which was launched in July, 2017. We are accentuating the Higher Educational Institutions to get accredited with the revised framework. A Capacity Building workshop has been organised for Principals of Govt. Degree Colleges by the Council with the Sponsorship of Govt. of U.P. to keep up with the essence of good Quality Education, and also promote the process of accreditation.

5. Funds of the Council

The State Higher Education has its own funds provided by the State Govt. through its annual budget, also the grants provided by the Central Govt., Funds received by the University Grant Commission and the State Universities. The Council utilizes these funds in exercise of its power and the discharge of its duties & liabilities.

6. Autonomy of the Council Problems & Challenges

The main objective of the Council is the betterment and the enhancement of the qualitative aspects of Higher Education. At the time of monitoring through Regional Higher Education offices, problems like shortage of technical staff, unavailability of sufficient infrastructure came to our knowledge. They have been sincerely taken care of. The Government has sent the requisition for selection of the teaching staff through the Public Service Commission and Higher Education Commission. The selection process is ongoing. The challenges here before us are to maintain an efficient & a devoted staff of Higher Education. The Government and the Institution are jointly working towards some guidelines for maintaining the status of modern day education. The determining standards in Universities and Colleges as guided by the University Grant Commission to encourage innovations, curricular development by upgrading the syllabus as by suggesting necessary reforms.
